Backrest

Backrest angle

Where a backrest angle is an adjustment or option to select on the order form it is listed as a positive or negative angle and is in relation to the the seat frame and not the floor.

This is illustrated in this diagram.

Negative angle squeezes the end user into the chair, which can be useful when the chair is set up with bucket.

Positive angle opens the backrest up and can be used to accommodate those with open hips.

BACKREST

Fixed height backrest (non height adjustable, carbon fibre)

This backrest is not height adjustable but is our lightest offering. This should only be chosen when the user is established and unlikely to change their cushion.

Available on:

- | | |
|-------------------------|-----------|
| ✓ Krypton R | KRR030006 |
| ✓ Krypton F | KRF030007 |
| ✓ Xenon ² FF | XFF030002 |
| ✓ Xenon ² H | XFF030002 |
| ✓ Xenon ² SA | XES030002 |

Angle adjustable back

Back angle is adjustable forwards and backwards, (range is dependant on the chair (see order form)) giving the ability to squeeze the client when a deep bucket is used or open the backrest for those with open hips. (Image shows Xenon)

Available on:

BACKREST

Back angle adjustable foldable*

The back angle is adjustable forwards and backwards although the range is dependent on the chair (listed on the order form). This gives the ability to squeeze the client when a deep bucket is used or open the backrest for those with open hips. The backrest is also able to fold for transfers and storage.

Available on:

- ✓ Krypton R KRR030015
- ✓ Helium HUM030015
- ✓ Argon² AGN030015

* Rigid chairs only

Double locking (angle adjustable back)

The backrest will lock in the folded position, this means that the end user will be able to grab the support bar at the back to assist transfers. (Image shows Helium)

Available on:

- ✓ Krypton R KRR030102
- ✓ Helium HUM030102
- ✓ Argon² AGN030102
- ✓ Life R LRF030102

Back width one size smaller (SW -2cm)

The backrest tubes sit inside the seat tubes allowing for a tapered backrest. This is popular for women who have slightly wider hips but would like a tighter more supportive fit in the back.

Available on:

- ✓ Helium HUM030103

Standard: non angle adjustable (90°), non folding backrest

This backrest is fixed and will not fold, often chosen when these options are not required and more rigidity is preferred in the backrest. This will be stronger for someone that extends when propelling or who is likely to spasm. It is also lighter as there are less components.

Available on:

- ✓ Xenon² FF XFF030010
- ✓ Xenon² H XFF030010
- ✓ Xenon² SA XES030010
- ✓ Neon² NSW030010
- ✓ Life F LFE030010
- ✓ Life R LRF030001

Half folding back (to front)

The half folding back allows the user or carers to fold down the backrest on a folding chair to reduce the overall package size for stowage.

BACKREST

Stabilising Bar Swing Away

The stabiliser bar may be a good option on wider chairs to offer more rigidity for larger users. Swings away when the chair is folded.

Available on:

- ✓ Xenon² SA XES030401
- ✓ Neon² NSW030401

Oval shaped backrest (non height adjustable)

This ergonomically shaped bar is the perfect grab point for transfers into a car. It also has a sleeker look than the standard support bar.

Available on:

- ✓ Krypton R KRR030006
- ✓ Helium HUM030003

Similar options

Stabiliser bar - close setting (9.2cm)

The oval shaped backrest bar can be set at either 9.2cm or 12.4cm (opposite) away from the backrest. If the end user is likely to be submerged into the tension adjustable upholstery or if they are using a hard back then the 12.4cm wide option will offer more space to accommodate for this.

Available on:

- ✓ Helium HUM030403

Stabiliser bar - wide setting (12.4cm)

Helix swing-away legrests - 70°

The Helix hangers have more composite built into the design so are not as stiff as the Xenon equivalents. The trigger is pulled toward the user whilst in the chair and may be better for users that have limited hand function.

FRAME VERSIONS

Frame

Frame angle

Frame angle is taken from the horizontal (grey line) to the front frame, not the inside of the frame.

This means that a 90° frame will have a smaller overall footprint and will cater for those with closed knee angles; whereas a 75° frame would make the overall chair a little longer and would cater for those with more open knee angles.

Frame

Long frame

The frame is a couple of centimetres longer than the seat canvas as per the traditional Helium.

Inset: (3cm) only for frame angle 92°

This frame has our maximum taper of 3cm each side on the Helium which offers a very sleek look and small front footprint. Please bear in mind that the footplate will be 12cm shorter than the width of the chair, always worth checking what footwear the user likes to wear (especially if they wear bulky footwear) particularly on narrow frame widths.

Castor house position wide

This is the traditional setting for the Helium. The castor wheels are very aggressively set outwards at the front of the chair and provide a lot of forward stability.

Available on:

- ✓ Krypton R KRR010301
- ✓ Helium HUM010301

Similar options

Castor house position narrow

The narrow position brings the front castor wheels in by 3cm. This decreases the front frame footprint and brings the castor wheels inside the rear wheels. This can make the front of the chair more tippy when leaning forwards or transferring. To ensure the front stability of the chair we recommend this setting in combination with our 'long frame' option. This is also our most energy efficient set-up.

CENTRE OF GRAVITY

Centre of gravity

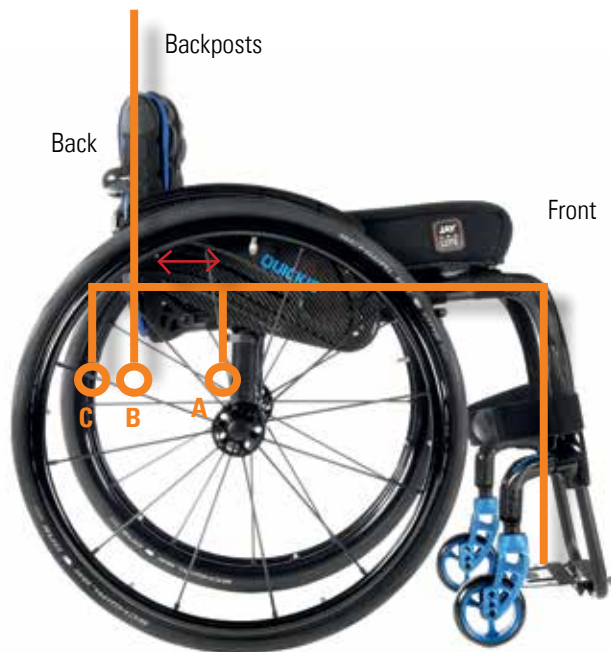

The centre of gravity measurement is taken from the front of the backposts forward or backward.

In the diagram;

Position A would be considered an active setting, for example 10cm.

Position B may be classed as a passive or amputee setting, in this case this may -1cm.

Position C gives an example of a handbike setting, very far behind the backposts, the measurements for these are not generally given but are usually around -6cm.

Helium Standard centre of gravity

The axle position is in front of the backposts and can be adjusted forward or backward. The amount of adjustment is dependant on other options that are chosen and the length of the frame. Please note that there is only +/-1cm of COG adjustment on the Helium Pro.

Simply select this option on the order form.

Helium passive centre of gravity (amputee)

This axle position is in line and behind the backposts to ensure the chair is not too tippy and is a good feature for those that are being pushed the majority of the time, or for amputees.

Simply select this option on the order form.

Helium Handbike

The handbike axle places the wheels behind the backposts so that the handbike wheel gains more traction when attached. The handbike axle for the Helium and Life R are separate to the everyday axle and can be kept on the chair during everyday use.

Available on:

- ✓ Helium HUM010500

REAR WHEELS

Down Town Two Grip

At each push and particularly when braking, the hands constant contact with tyres can result in irritation and chafing. The Schwalbe Downtown with its patented 2 grip solution consists of completely smooth sidewalls, allowing hands to glide past the tyres without irritation.
